

Accounts Receivable Analyst (collections) - French

Amazon is looking for energetic and enthusiastic candidates to join the fast paced world of European Financial Operations in Bratislava. We're not an average retailer and this is definitely not your average finance position. We'll give you the opportunity to really make a difference to our business by working on and initiating projects in a fast-paced environment and ultimately delivering results.

About the role

The successful candidate will be responsible for cash collection operations in cooperation with our suppliers and management of their financial disputes in France. As part of our commitment to your development, you will also gain exposure in cross functional and process improvement projects but you can expect your responsibilities to include:

- Work with Amazon vendors to drive process improvements and resolve escalations and discrepancies
- Standardize processes to ensure capacity for our significant growth.
- Continually look at ways to improve the vendor experience
- Earn the trust of your vendors and internal customers thereby building long-lasting relationships to reinforce Amazon's customer centricity.
- Work with the commercial side of the business to ensure we are serving our customers in the most effective manner.
- Managing vendors liabilities against Amazon.
- Analysis of vendor returns and marketing agreements and the cooperation with our sales, supply chain and retail finance to ensure proper setup.
- Being a helping hand for our internal business partners in France to enable them to make educated decisions.
- Acting as a communication liaison between our vendors, retail finance department, accounts payables and accounts receivables

About you

- Young professional with Bachelor /Under-graduate degree (preferably in Computer Science or Business)
- Fluency in written and oral French, together with English as the company language
- Advanced computer literacy in Microsoft Office (especially MS Excel) applications
- Desire to work in a fast-paced, challenging environment and passion for delivering great customer experience is required
- Passion for financial operations, open communication and comfort around higher management
- Communicative, willing and able to sort issues and financial data interchange through phone, email and face to face
- Able to present in front of different audiences
